

Working hours for Hogeschool Rotterdam

lecturer/student project team coach

As part of the minor in Data science, offered by the ‘instituut voor Communicatie, Media en Informatietechnologie (CMI)’, I assisted in their minor-long data science project. After been given a choice of several initial data sets, the students decided on their own research questions, cleaned and enriched their data (from outside sources), conducted literature research into their chosen topic, and trained/tested their Machine-Learning/data science based solution. My role is to act as a team coach for three of the teams: Guiding them throughout this journey into what for many is their first bit of research experience.
